4 Tips for Weekend Success

Cooking: Scouts will be concerned with cleanliness as well as cooking ability. This includes clean Scouts as well as a clean prep area. Cooks should clean up as they go, not letting used or dirty items pile up.

Plan your menu, post it, and stick to it. For breakfast, lunch, and dinner at Camporee, cook something you've cooked before and keep it simple.

When meal planning, be sure to include all four food groups in your menu:

1. Meat / Protein
2. Dairy (Eggs, Cheese, Milk)
3. Fruit / Vegetable
4. Bread / Rice / Pasta

Each Patrol eats together, at the same time.

Cleaning: When ready to wash dishes, heat clean water in a clean pot. Pour that water into two plastic tubs. Use one tub for washing with soap, and the other for rinsing. All dishwater (Grey Water) should be disposed of in the sump area or scattered. No dishes should be washed in the camp sinks, water faucets, drinking fountains, or toilets!! No waste should be disposed of in sinks or toilets.

Scrape uneaten food off the plates into your trash container before you wash them. Lay out a clean trash bag to drain your clean dishes and utensils. Finish drying them with a clean dishtowel and put them away. Wipe off tables and food prep areas.

Remember to be Bear Aware! Food waste should be put in trash bags at the campsite. Store uneaten food in zipper bags and then in coolers. All food and trash should be locked in vehicles for the night.

Campsite Duty Roster(s): Post the patrol menu and duty roster. All duties should be rotated, so everyone gets to learn. Every patrol member should be clear about their responsibilities. Once the duty roster is posted do not try to re-negotiate your duties. Everyone pitches in and does their share. Remember, Cooperation and Teamwork!

Campsite Layout: Patrol tents should be laid out in an organized fashion. Making it easy for judges to identify each patrol in the campsite. If rain flies are used, they should be attached properly. All tents should have ground cloths with them rolled under. Stuff sacks should be stowed in the inside tent pockets.

The tent/cooking area should have 2 (two) fire buckets per Patrol, one of sand and one of water or a fire extinguisher per patrol.

Store personal gear neatly inside tents with the tent zipped. Roll up sleeping bags during the day and stow your extra clothes and other personals when not in use. Store all Patrol gear neatly.

Cooking equipment and coolers should be closed, clean, and organized by patrol. Each unit should have an easily accessible, clearly marked First Aid kit.

Food Prep and Management:

- Menus should be planned keeping the Big 8 Food Allergies in mind (Milk, Soy, Eggs, Wheat, Shellfish, Tree nuts, Peanuts, Sesame)
- Garbage must be stored so wildlife cannot get to it and it must be locked in vehicles overnight and packed out of camp when leaving. No trash can be disposed of at Trask.
- Promote the use of soap, water, and hand sanitizer during the day and especially before preparing food.
- Keep daytime temperatures in mind when packing coolers. The food danger zone is between 40°-140°.
