

Leave No Trace Master Educator Course

The Leave No Trace Master Educator Course is a two-weekend program that teaches the ideals and practices of Outdoor Ethics. Participants will learn about the seven principles of Leave No Trace, in depth. The course also covers the history of outdoor ethics and the latest in the science behind Leave No Trace. A backpacking trek over the second weekend includes real-world application, and a visit to a post-Revolutionary War settlement. This trek traverses the 1,000 acres of Camp Sequassen and Camp Workcoeman during a New England Autumn. The course also includes teaching techniques, and will prepare those who successfully complete the program to teach the Leave No Trace Trainer Course.

Camp Workcoeman & Camp Sequassen

November 5-7 & November 11-14

Adult scouters, 18 years of age and older can participate. They must be physically prepared for a short backpacking trek, and a presentation on a Leave No Trace topic. Students must also provide parts A, B, & C of the BSA health form. All COVID-19 protocols in effect will be followed, including vaccination.

The course fee is $300, sign up at <https://scoutingevent.com/066-LNTMasterEducatorCourse>

Contact Joe Conaci, Lead Instructor, (jconaci@campworkcoeman.org) or Tom Leisten, Course Coordinator, (tleisten@campworkcoeman.org) with any questions

Who: Adults 18 years of age and older

What: A Leave No Trace Master Educator Course, which provides hands-on, outdoor, experiential learning in Outdoor Ethics, focusing on the seven principles of Leave No Trace

Where: Camp Workcoeman & Camp Sequassen, New Hartford, Connecticut

When: November 5-7 & November 11-14

Why: Following successful completion of the course, students will be prepared to Conduct Leave No Trace Trainer Courses and help others develop their own personal outdoor ethic

How: The Course fee is $300, sign up at ctscouting.org

