What is the ASCENT experience?

The ASCENT experience is designed to provide Venturers within the Old North State Council a time to fellowship with their fellow crew members, as well as other crews in the council. The event is sure to be a keystone experience for a Venturer along their “ascent” towards the Summit Award.

Venturers can also expect:

- Time for fellowship with other Venturers
- Competitive and adventurous activities
- Opportunities to take home recognitions for their crew

What is offered during the ASCENT experience?

Friday April 10th:

- During the 2026 ASCENT experience, there will be no program offered on Friday April 10th. However, crews may choose to arrive at Cherokee Scout Reservation on Friday Evening and camp in Blackfoot/Cheyenne Campsites. These crews must bring appropriate adult supervision and comply with all Safeguarding Youth policies when camping. Units must also coordinate their own plans for breakfast; no breakfast will be provided by the event staff.
- Units choosing to camp on Friday Night should indicate their early arrival upon registration and may arrive at camp starting at 6:00 PM.

Saturday April 11th:

- Participants will begin their morning activities on Saturday with either five-stand shotgun or our land-nav/teambuilding course. Halfway through the morning, the groups will switch to the other activity. (Ie: Crew 123 starts with shotgun and then switches to land nav at the appropriate time)
- After morning activities, participants will meet in the dining hall for lunch. After lunch, participants will resume their adventures with the afternoon activities.
- In the afternoon, participants will compete in a pioneering “raise the flag” challenge and a backpacking based iron-chef competition.

*Specific details can be found under the section for each activity.

Activity Info:

Five Stand Shotgun

- Participants will be guided by ONSC range officers in the fundamentals of shotgun shooting and will be taking on Cherokee Scout Reservations premier five-stand course.
- One individual venturer can receive recognition for “high overall” meaning that they hit the most targets, and a crew with the most cumulative targets will receive recognition as well.
- Note: ALL PARTICIPANTS MUST HAVE a signed hold harmless agreement turned in at check-in to participate with range and target activities.

Land Navigation / Teambuilding Course

- This course is a take on a classic leadership game practiced at many Scout trainings.
- Participants will go through the course using a combination of orienteering, gps navigation, and amateur radio foxhunting to reach checkpoints. At each checkpoint the group must participate in a teambuilding activity and once they have completed the activity and have completed the reflection to the crew guide’s satisfaction, they will be given instructions to navigate to the next point.
- Crews will be timed as they navigate through the course, and the fastest crew will receive recognition for the event.

Pioneering Challenge “raise the flag”

- Pioneering and knots are an essential skill for adventurous outings and wilderness survival.
- Participants will be responsible for constructing a self-supporting flagpole using pioneering techniques and will also be provided with materials to design a crew flag to be raised using the pole.
- Crews will be judged on several criteria including: pole height, pole design, lashing strength/quality, and flag design. The crew that earns the most points across all categories will win this competition.

Backpacking Iron Chef Contest

- Each group will be provided with access to a “pantry” of ingredients that they can use to prepare a backpacking dish of their choosing. There will be no refrigerated ingredients available, only canned and dry goods.

- Each group will be provided with a backpacking stove, small pot, one pan, and various cooking utensils to prepare their dish. The group will also be given a mess kit for presentation to the judges.
- The group will have one hour from the start of the event to collect ingredients, cook a dish, and present said dish to the judges. Any group that has not submitted their dish at the end of the hour will be disqualified.
- Each group will be judged on ingredient selection, dish taste and dish presentation.
- The best group will be named the “iron chefs” and will receive a recognition for their crew to take home.
