A day of discovery, learning, and personal growth for anyone seeking new skills, ideas, and inspiration.

The University of Scouting is a one-day learning event hosted by the Crossroads of America Council. It's designed for everyone, parents, community members, educators, and Scouts alike, who want to learn something new, share experiences, and grow as leaders and mentors.

Each year, the University offers over 80 courses spanning a wide range of topics: outdoor and adventure skills, leadership development, safety, youth engagement, trip planning, and more. Many sessions are directly related to Scouting America programs, while others focus on general skills and personal development that anyone can benefit from.

This year's program includes suggested learning tracks (bundles) to help participants navigate the wide selection of courses. Tracks group-related classes together to create a more structured learning path. If you're not interested in an entire bundle, you can still add the bundle to your schedule, then remove or replace individual courses to build a custom plan that fits your interests.

When registering, please select the appropriate age for each participant to ensure proper course placement.

The University of Scouting is about growth, connection, and lifelong learning. Whether you're involved in Scouting or simply curious to explore new topics, you'll leave with practical skills, fresh ideas, and a stronger sense of community.
