

This annual event is our Scouters' and Spouses' appreciation dinner. We recognize our volunteers and their spouses for their hard work and the time they give to Scouting and their community. This year we are having a Luau-themed evening of entertainment for your enjoyment. We will be sending out character assignments as you sign-up. Although not required, you are encouraged to "dress the part" for your character. There will also be prizes for best costume and best actor/actress. We will also present several district awards to our very deserving Scouters. We are looking forward to very enjoyable evening of mystery, laughs, and fun. We sincerely hope you will join us and complete the on-line registration: <https://scoutingevent.com/311-lewisandclarkdinner> NLT April 5th.

Aloha and Welcome to Hawaii

It is sunset on the beach. One of Harold Logan's legendary luaus on the beautiful island of Maui. Tonight is a very special night because Harold is hosting a fund-raiser for the Hawaiian Association of Authentic Leis (HAAL), an organization comprised of artisans that make authentic, handmade Hawaiian leis. You are looking forward to a fun-filled evening of good food and entertainment, Hawaiian style, but as your luck has it, things are about to change. Everyone's a suspect when murder is on the menu!

Vote for:

- Whodunit
- Best Costume
- Best Actor/Actress

Solve the Mystery

Aloha

You are Invited to an Evening of Mystery

Lewis and Clark District Mystery Dinner

(All Scouting Leaders and their Spouses or Guests)

April 13th 2019

This luau fund raiser for the Hawaiian Association of Authentic Leis (HAAL) hosted by Harold Logan can't help but turn deadly with so many nefarious characters in attendance.

Cast of Characters

Harold (Albert) Logan: The owner of the Pineapple Haven Hotel (it was part of his divorce settlement). His marriage to Stella Capwell was a big mistake but she was filthy rich, and he did get this hotel from her and he did get to return to his place of birth. So why is she coming here tonight? He has a feeling he ain't gonna like the reason.

Bambi Bianca: Harold's girlfriend, or as she says, fiancée. An ex-con who's clearly pure white trash and who'll use anybody and everybody if it works to her advantage. For Harold, she puts the "I" in "lei" so no one better come between her and her man, including his ex.

Stella Capwell: Harold's miserable and mean ex-wife from NY. She now realizes she was a bit too generous in giving this hotel to Harold. Her accountants have told her it could be a big moneymaker. So, she's back and she has a plan — a plan that sends Harold and anyone associated with him back to the gutter from whence they came.

Mrs. Abigail Wiggins: She claims to be an author and expert on island voodoo (hmm, is Hawaii known for it's voodoo?). While she'll gladly contribute to HAAL tonight, she also senses that something evil is going to happen, but she just isn't sure what. She has an interesting connection to Stella.

Donny Wo: A lounge singer. Harold hired him to sing at the luau but only after Donny barraged the man with daily calls and daily appearances. Harold didn't really want any entertainment - he has a tape deck and cassettes, what more do people want?

Thomas Q. Magnus: A private eye. He and Abigail are chums and he's here at her request because of her premonitions. And like Abigail, he's an avid supporter of anything having to do with the preservation of Hawaiian tradition and lore. What turns out to be a bonus of sorts for Thomas is the fact that he'll get to confront Stella Capwell. She still owes him money for the job he did for her.

Rebel Hanukkaiahani: He's Harold's business partner. When Harold makes money, Rebel makes money. And vice versa. Nice arrangement. Unless they lose money of course.

Ruth Astoria: Stella's daughter from her first marriage. A snotty little tramp with a bad, bad, bad attitude. She hates her mother, well, because she's her overbearing mother. She also has a love/hate relationship with Harold. Tonight, may decide which it'll be: love or hate.

Make your Reservation

Your evening starts with a social hour meet and greet (a cash bar is available). Then our host will explain the evening's mystery and officially start the mystery game. Our meal is served buffet-style. At the conclusion of the mystery, each character will cast their vote for "who done it". Later in the evening, we will be presenting our District Award of Merit and other district awards to our deserving Scouters.
