Youth Protection Training

The Boy Scouts of America places the greatest importance on creating the most secure environment possible for our youth members. True youth protection can be achieved only through the focused commitment of everyone in Scouting. Therefore, all adults at camp need to have a current Youth Protection Training certificate. Youth Protection Training is quick and easy to complete and is vital for the safety of our youth. You do not have to be a registered member of the Boy Scouts of America to take Youth Protection training. To take Youth Protection training go to <http://My.Scouting.org> and create an account. You'll receive an email notification with your account information, including a member ID/reference number. From the My.Scouting.org portal, click Menu then My Dashboard from the menu list. The My Training page displays to take Youth Protection training. Upon completion, you may print a training certificate.

EMERGENCY PROCEDURES AND NCAP STANDARDS

NCAP (National Camp Accreditation Program)

What are Cub Scout Day Camp National Standards?

The Boy Scouts of America has established standards so that each council may realistically appraise its facilities, equipment, staff, service and program. The standards must be met, whether or not the day camp facilities are owned by the council. Using the standards as guide, a pre-camp inspection is made. During the actual operation of the day camp, an inspection team will visit the site and conduct an inspection with the camp director.

In simpler terms NCAP is there to ensure that there is a general sense of consistency in Boy Scouts Camps throughout the country. It's to ensure that at the bare minimum all camps will be safe, inclusive and of superior quality. As Day Camp staff and volunteers, our goal is to meet the standards and receive national accreditation.
