

Introduction To Outdoor Leadership Skills (IOLS) FAQ

What is being taught?

Introduction To Outdoor Leadership Skills a fun-filled program of hands-on skills training in the outdoors, designed to help you master basic camp skills. It is designed to provide Scouters with the confidence to take youth into the outdoors.

Instructors will help you learn how to set up camp, cook, and work with woods tools. You'll also learn about ropes, map reading and compass skills, hiking and packing techniques, outdoor ethics, and many other topics.

How does this fit into being a "trained" Scoutmaster or Assistant Scoutmaster?

To be a "trained" Scoutmaster or Assistant Scoutmaster requires completing the online Scoutmaster and Assistant Scoutmaster courses as outlined in BSA's Position Trained Requirements. The IOLS Course (S11) completes the training. It is highly recommended that course participants complete the online training prior to taking the IOLS course.

What if I am vegetarian, vegan, or have other dietary needs?

We will do our best to accommodate you but can only do so if you let us know ahead of time. Please send an email to Tim Giorgi at tgiorgi@optsolutions.com explaining any dietary needs/preferences before Monday, 4/8/24.

Do I need to be a Scoutmaster or Assistant Scoutmaster to attend?

Not at all! This is also a great course to send new scout parents to help them understand the Scouts BSA program. It will also help you identify potential future leaders for your unit.

Can I come to Butte Creek Friday evening?

Yes. Staff will be there starting Friday afternoon and mini-daks will be available to use Friday night. Note that no meals are provided until Saturday morning so you will need to bring your own food for Friday evening. Also, you will need to set up and sleep in a tent for Saturday evening as this is part of the course curriculum.

Introduction To Outdoor Leadership Skills (IOLS) FAQ

How do I register?

Registering for the course is through Black Pug, the council's new reservation website.

I saw that BALOO is also being taught that weekend. Can I earn certificates from both?

While about 75% of the information is the same, the BSA does not permit the courses to be combined where participants can earn both certificates. We will be teaching both courses where the identical material is presented to the entire group and then breakout sessions to go over the specific IOLS vs BALOO material.

What should I bring?

Note you will be sleeping overnight in your own tent on the Butte Creek Parade Grounds.
