

Lackawanna District — Lackawanna Award

What is the Lackawanna Award?

The Lackawanna Award is a Lackawanna District award that recognizes an individual leader who renders out-standing service at the district level.

How are the recipients determined?

A nominee for the Lackawanna Award must have been registered for a minimum of two years in any leadership position in scouting and must have rendered exceptional service to Lackawanna District.

Any person can nominate any leader working at the district level for the Lackawanna Award regardless of their primary registration (in a pack, troop, crew, or outside of any unit). Once the nominations are submitted a subcommittee of the District Advancement and Recognition Committee will consider the nominees and select the recipients.

Where will the award be presented?

The recipients of the Lackawanna Award will be recognized at the annual District Recognition Dinner in the spring. There will be no announcement made before then.

How do I nominate someone?

To nominate someone for the Lackawanna Award fill out the form below and return it to the District Advancement Chairman or one of the District Executives before the Roundtable the month before the dinner. (For example, if the dinner is in April, submit the form before the March Roundtable.) There is no cost to the nominator or the recipient for the award.
