

Methodology: This model was built off of several assumptions, first, that there would be a half troop (20 people). Second, each flight estimate was estimated based on a theoretical two-week trip from Anchorage to the destination airport for 7/6-19 on the Alaska airlines website. Next, each bus estimate is based on the ideal drivetime from the airport itself to the Summit and back (including round trip fares for the driver) at $150 per hour, which seems to be the industry standard for a motor coach. Finally, each hotel estimate was created based off of an assumption of seven rooms (five participant rooms and two adult rooms) for three nights (two at the beginning and one at the end).
