

Things to do while visiting Morgantown

Tour the WVU Art Museum, 5,400 sq ft of exhibition space housing 3,000 pieces, including paintings, prints, sculpture, ceramic and folk art. Admission is free. <https://artmuseum.wvu.edu/>

Looking to see our campus? Grab a self-guided tour map from the blue kiosks located around campus and show yourself around. Follow this link for all the details. <https://visit.wvu.edu/tours/self-guided-tour>

Take your photo with the life-sized, bronze statues of basketball greats Jerry West and “Hot Rod” Hundley, at the WVU Coliseum.

Visit Coopers Rock State Park. If you want a 360-degree view of our state’s natural beauty, look no further than Coopers Rock overlook. <https://www.visitmountainecountry.com/coopers-rock-visitors-guide/>

Eat Local. Try one of our many local restaurants listed here <https://www.visitmountainecountry.com/eat/morgantown/>

If you are dressed for a hike, visit the 91-acres of the WVU Core Arboretum with 45 flower species and 70 bird species. <https://arboretum.wvu.edu/>

Visit Woodburn Circle on the downtown campus and get your photo taken in front of Woodburn Hall, the most iconic building on the WVU campus.

While downtown, check out the Mountaineer statue next to the Mountainlair Student Union.

Stop by the WVU Bookstore and other local retailers, to get your WVU gear!

Find more great ideas at the Morgantown Convention and Visitors Bureau website <https://www.visitmountainecountry.com/>

