A BRIEF HISTORY OF CAMP MOUNTAINEER

Camp Mountaineer opened the gate to Boy Scout summer resident camping for the Scouts of Mountaineer Area Council in the summer of 1956. This is our 59th season—and during the first 58 years, thousands of Scouts have enjoyed the summers they spent in this great Scouting environment of over 1,000 acres. Initially, there were six campsites: Cherokee, Mingo, Seneca, Delaware, Shawnee and Catawba. With no central eating facility, all meals were cooked patrol-style in the troop sites. The rifle range was located at the site of the current Green Acres cabin, and the trading post was a room attached to the old maintenance building at the top of the hill.

A major capital fundraising campaign during 1960-1961 throughout the council generated enough financial support to enable the construction of a winter lodge, new rifle range, and the current Dining Hall. These facilities greatly enhanced the camp program beginning in 1963. The COPE course was opened in 1996, and the current shooting sports complex was completed in 2013.
