Structure Tone is building everything from New York's iconic office towers, to hospitals, to the cool hotels that you sleep in on vacation. Want to know how it's done? They can show you! This experience will allow you to step into the shoes of a professional in the construction industry. Meet new people, work as a team, read construction drawings, and even visit a live construction site!

Don't hesitate! Come and experience what it's like to be in the construction management industry.
