STSR Inaugural Renaissance Fair Safety & Help Procedures

Emergency & Immediate Assistance

For life-threatening emergencies, call 911 immediately. After calling 911, notify Event Staff so emergency responders can be guided to the correct location. The Event Director 850-603-9000 will coordinate all emergency response efforts on-site.

First Aid & Medical Support

A First Aid / Medical Station will be available on-site during the event. Unit leaders should know its location upon arrival.

Leaders are responsible for managing unit medical forms and medications in accordance with BSA policy. Any injury requiring more than basic first aid must be reported to Event Staff.

Lost Scout / Lost Person

Any lost Scout, youth, or adult must be reported immediately to Event Staff. The individual should remain at the last known location unless directed otherwise. Event Staff will coordinate search and reunification procedures while following Youth Protection policies.

Severe Weather

In the event of severe weather, instructions will be announced by Event Staff. Participants must follow directions promptly and move to designated shelter areas. Unit leaders are responsible for maintaining accountability of their Scouts.

Fire Safety

Campfires and cooking fires are permitted only in designated areas and must follow camp guidelines. Fires must never be left unattended. Fire suppression tools must be available. Any uncontrolled fire must be reported immediately.

Campsite & Cooking Safety

Camp cooking is the required meal plan for the event; the dining hall will be closed. Units are responsible for safe food handling, proper tool use, and campsite cleanliness. Food and trash must be stored properly to prevent wildlife issues.

Youth Protection & Behavior

All BSA Youth Protection policies are in effect. Two-deep leadership is required at all times. Unsafe behavior or policy violations must be reported to Event Staff. Event Staff may remove individuals or units if safety is compromised.

Reporting Concerns or Getting Help

Event Staff will be present throughout the event. Henson Hall serves as the primary check-in and information hub. Leaders should direct questions, concerns, or safety issues to Event Staff or the Event Director.

Parking moved from the sand lot to newly cleared Parking Lot A on Jambo Rd. Event signage and staff will direct vehicles upon arrival.
