

What is Wood Badge?

Scouting's founder, Lord Robert S.S. Baden Powell, created Wood Badge in 1919 as the premier training course for Scoutmasters. Today, Wood Badge offers you the skills and tools necessary to be the best leader you can be, whether you are involved in Cub Scouts, Boy Scouts, Venturing, or Varsity.

B-P wants YOU for Wood Badge!

Who can participate in Wood Badge?

Wood Badge is designed to be completed within your first two years of volunteer or professional Scouting service. To be eligible, you must have completed Basic Training for your position and be registered with the BSA.

Wood Badge participants learn to be better communicators in Scouting, at work, and at home.

Participants must be at least 18 years of age and serve in Packs, Troops, Crews, and Teams or as Scouting Professionals.

What's it all about?

Wood Badge training is presented in two phases. First, the practical, hands-on training takes place over the course of six days in camp. Second, you will then apply your newly honed leadership skills in your home unit or through your role in Scouting.

These two phases give you the best training experience available, as a Scouting volunteer or professional, to be the best you can be for the youth you serve.

General Information

Lodging: Since this is a winter course, course participants will be provided access to heated cabins for each night in camp.

Scholarships: A limited number of partial-fee scholarships, available based on need, are provided by the Glacier's Edge Council Wood Badge Association.

Uniforming: Scouters are expected to wear a complete field uniform specific to their role in Scouting. This includes shirt and pants with appropriate socks and belt.

Wood Badge participants learn invaluable team-building skills that they take back to their Pack, Troop, Crew, Team, or office.
